

A NEW GAS COOLING CUSTOMER

Nestled among pines in a secluded area above an inlet off Massachusetts Bay, close to the Whitney Wood Reserve, this beautiful Estate exudes rustic comfort and tranquility away from the commotion and media mania familiar to it's owner.

The residence, a luxury 10,000 sq. ft. home is cooled by 15-tons of ROBUR gas cooling. Within the home residents live in comfort with just the right amount of conditioned air, because nine separate zones are designed to cool individual areas: the Master Bedroom Suite, additional guest bedrooms, other living spaces and the basement. Adjusting the comfort level of each area is an advantage of the gas system over other conventional systems.

Environmentally friendly GAS COOLING was chosen in keeping with the greening concept of the design, and the adaptability of the system was an added advantage that saved **$.
